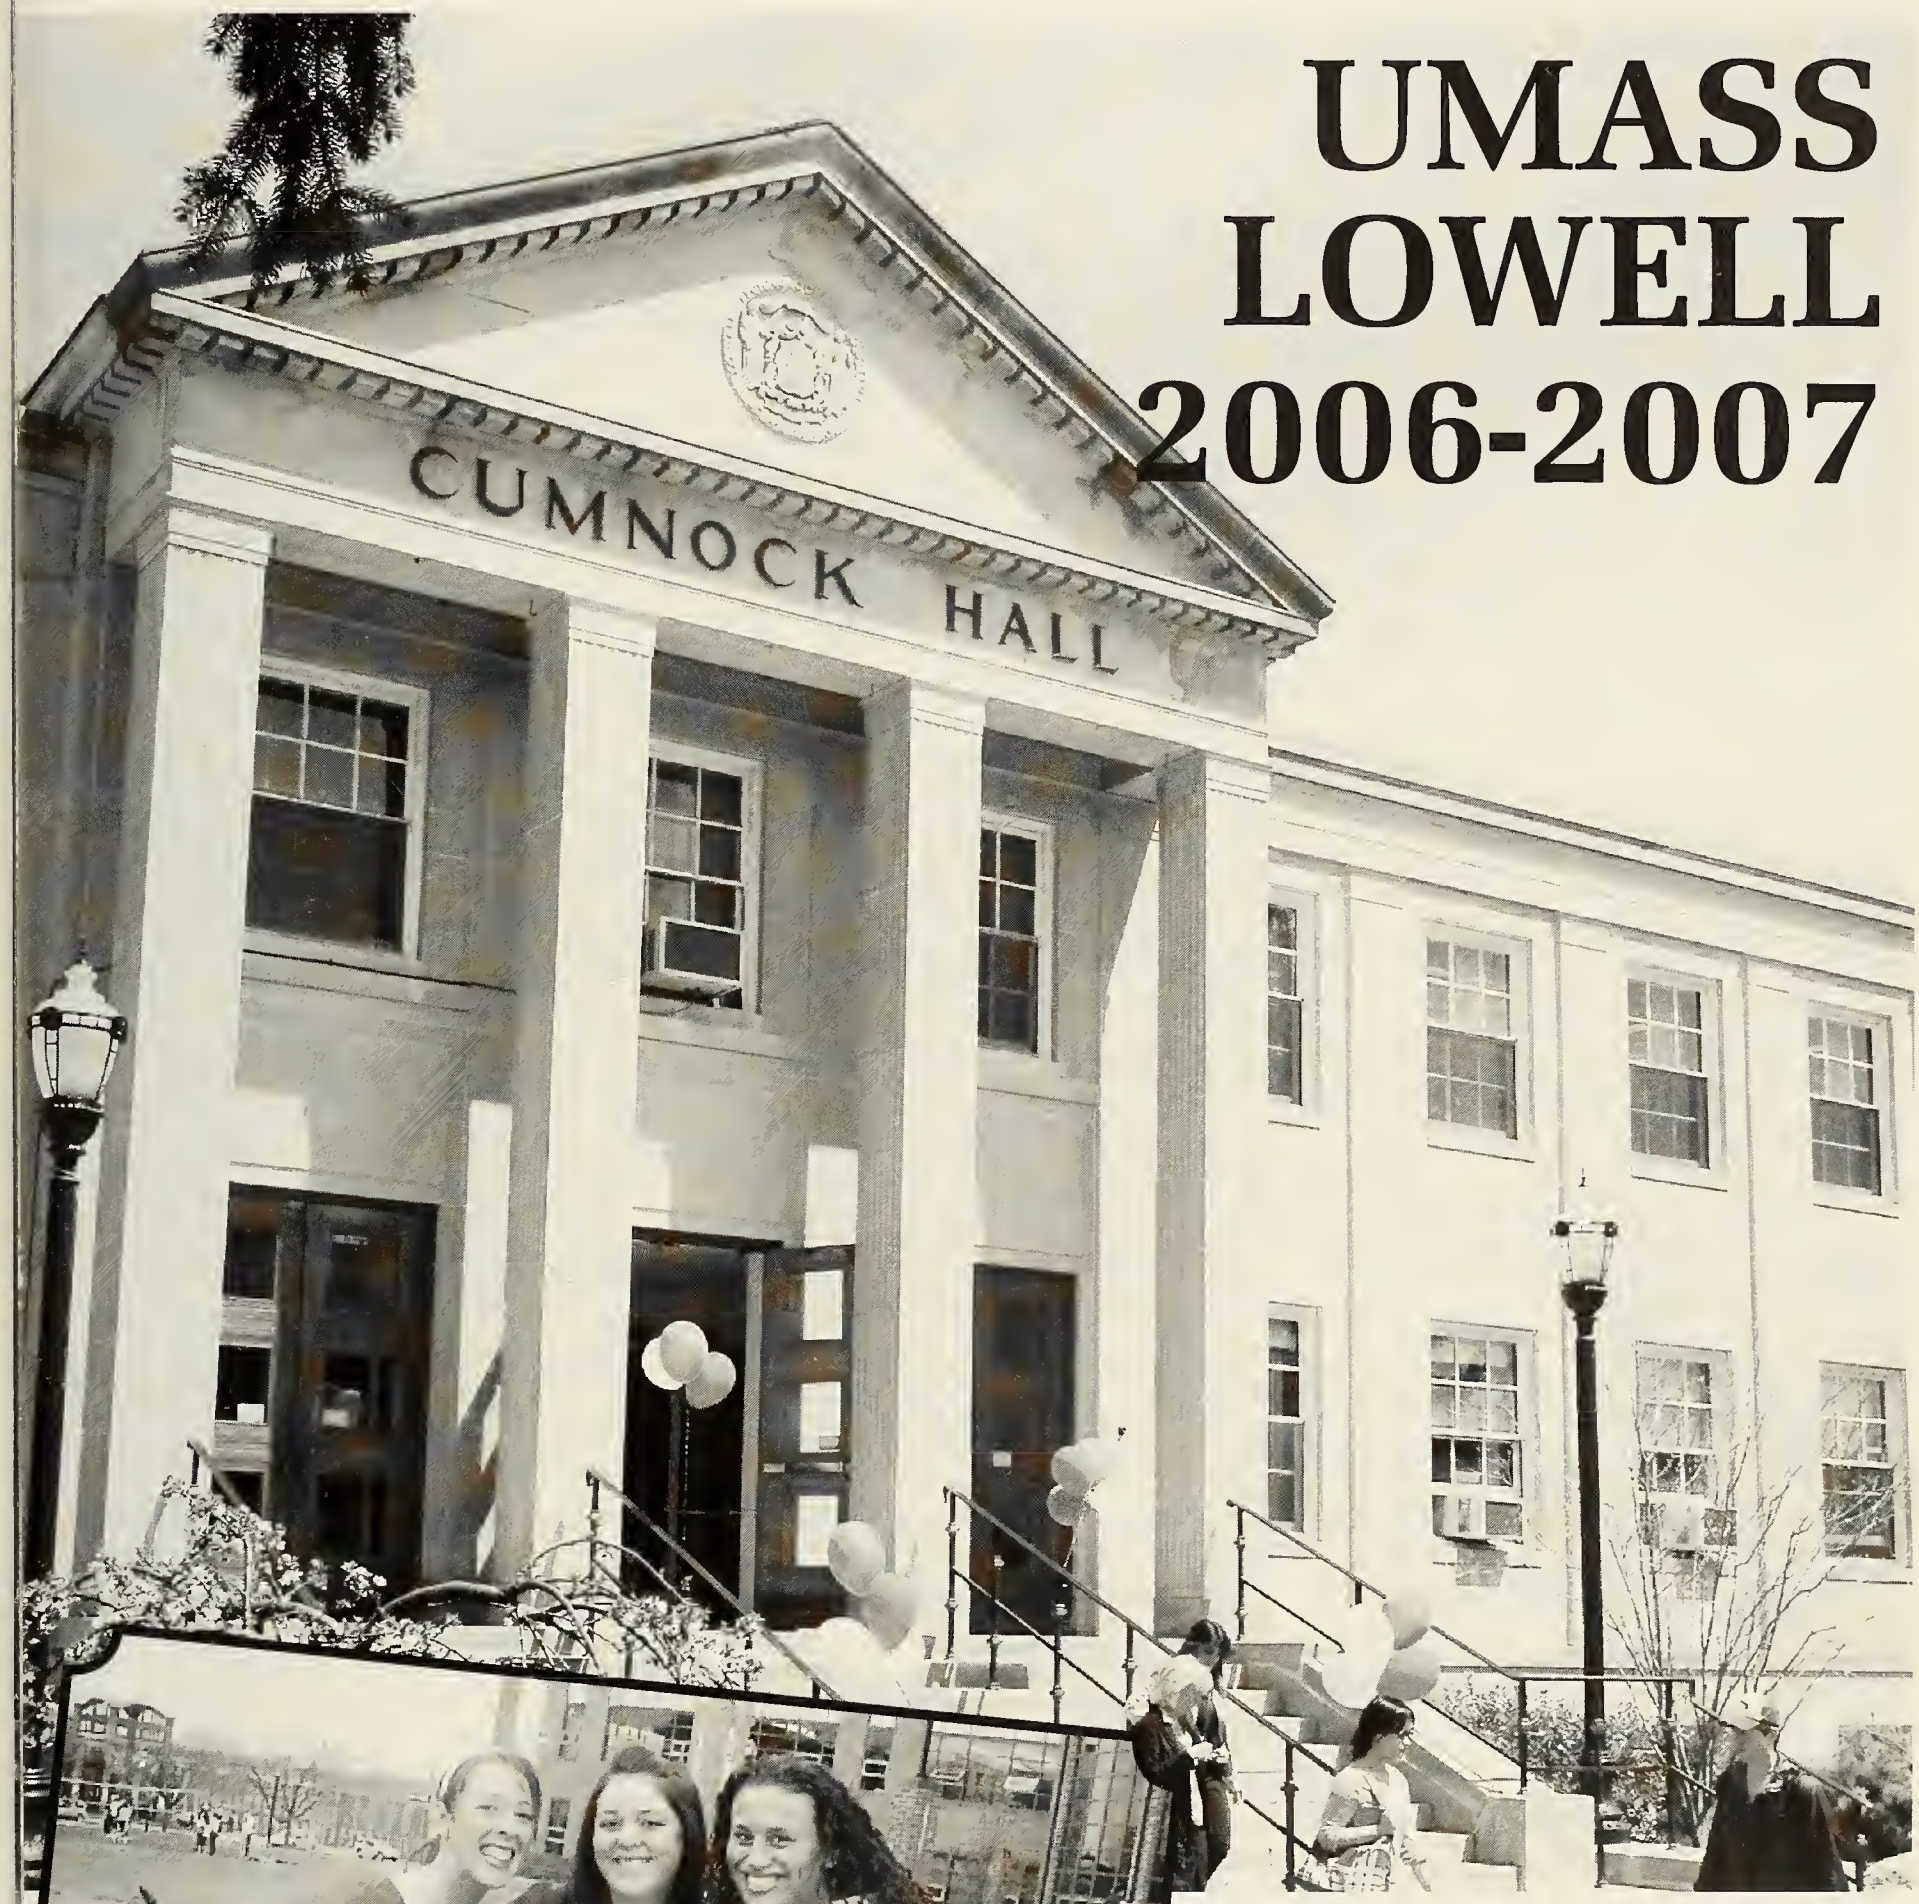
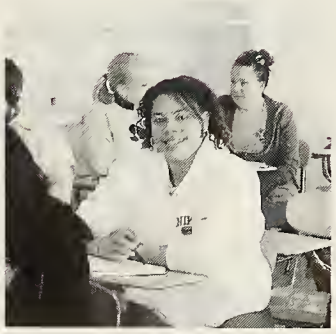
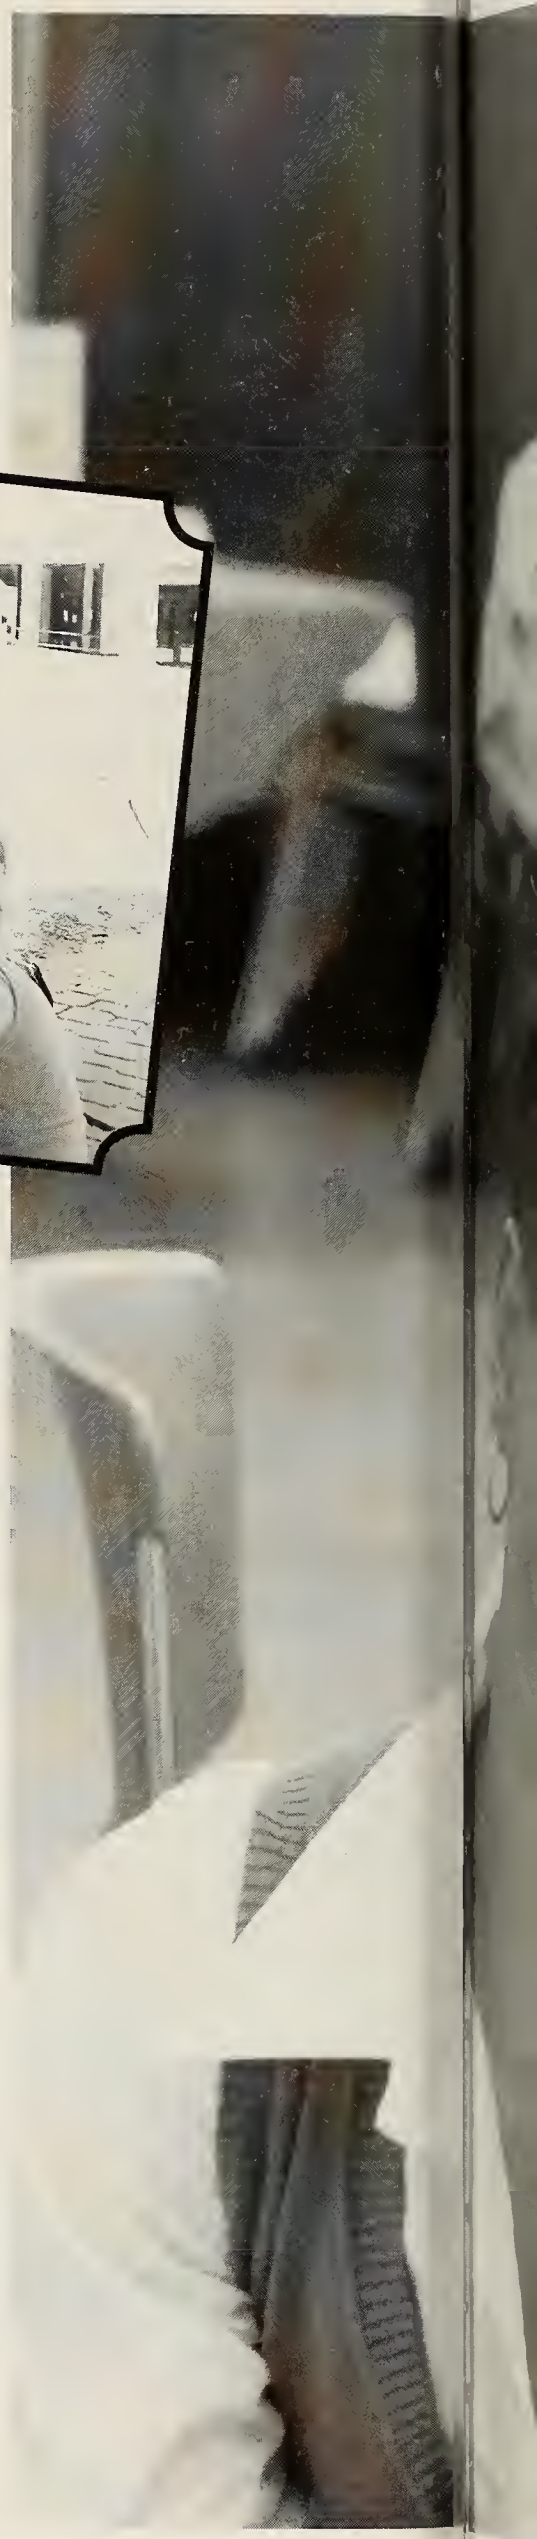
UMASS LOWELL 2006-2007





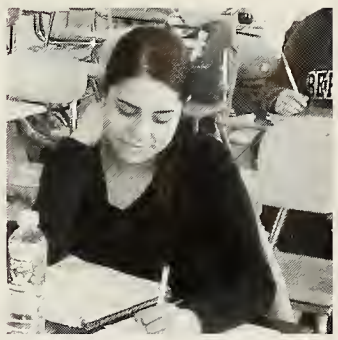


OUR MISSION:

To provide to students an affordable education of high quality and to focus some of its scholarship and public service on assisting sustainable regional economic and social development in the nation and the world.

OUR HISTORY:

For more than a century, the University of Massachusetts Lowell has been educating students to work in the real-world, solve real problems and help real people. The University began as the Lowell Normal School, founded in 1894 to prepare students to become teachers, and the Lowell Textile School, founded in 1895 to train technicians and managers for the textile industry. Over the next 75 years, both institutions extended their offerings to meet the growing needs of the region. Lowell State and Lowell Tech, as they were then known, merged in 1975 to form the University of Lowell. In 1991, the campus became part of the University of Massachusetts system.



Q&A

What surprised you most about coming to UML?

I was a little surprised at the lack of emphasis on programs to welcome and nurture students on campus. For example, I was shocked that there was no tradition of a freshman convocation on campus. I know that sometimes such ceremonies can seem dated and boring. However, I do believe that such rituals are important to establishing a University to be a special place in one's life. A university education can transform one's life. Most of one's life can be seen as a constant struggle to make ends meet, raise a family, keep a boss happy, etc. One's time at a University is a once in a lifetime opportunity to discover one's true nature and to find a satisfying direction in life. It is not all about preparing to get a job. Anyway, events like a convocation, which I was very pleased to see take place, help us all to remember why we are here, how special this time is, and what we should be doing to take advantage of this gift.

What do you see as the greatest strengths of the UML community?

The greatest strengths of the UML community are the energy, commitment, dedication, and intelligence of the students, faculty and staff. This university does so much, creates so much, and accomplishes so much with such limited resources. Confronting and overcoming our challenges is what makes us strong and so able to succeed in whatever path we choose to take. UML develops graduates who have been and will continue to be the backbone of a strong USA as our country faces difficult economic and political challenges in the world.

What would you describe as the most important benefits of an education from UML?

Each student benefits in a different way from an UML education, depending on how he or she approaches the UML experience. For some, the most important benefit is getting the life-changing job that makes such an important difference to his or her career. Others discover a new intellectual or artistic world that they did not know really existed before they enrolled here. And for some, the most important benefits are the lifelong friendships that begin from the first day they walk on campus.

What has been the most difficult challenge in serving as the interim chancellor at UML?

The most difficult challenge has been to be worthy of the great honor that I have had to serve in this role as Chancellor. It takes a lot of energy, judgement, and patience to provide the kind of leadership that this University deserves. How do you channel the great energy and hopes of the University into positive outcomes while being as fair and even handed as possible? My main challenge is to leave the University a little better off than when I came here, and I work at this goal every day.

Where would you most like to see UML ten years from now?

I would hope that the University will have been able to achieve its aspirations of being a truly green and sustainable enterprise. This means two things: first, that it will have been able to do its part in reversing the ecological damage that is happening on the planet, and second, that it will itself become a more sustainable enterprise with resources and facilities to meet its needs.

New to UMASS Lowell this year, Chancellor MacKenzie took a moment to sit down and talk about his new experiences.

family day

Family Day is an annual event held by the university every fall to bring the university together as a community, raise money for school clubs and to show our families what a great school we all belong to. Family Day 2006 did just that on September 20, 2006 on the South Campus Quad. The creativity of all the clubs here on campus brought together with the hard work of CAPA, created a fun environment for all ages. This year Family Day had a Beach theme, and over 50 clubs dressed up their booths, making the day seem all the more magical for students, staff, parents, and of course, children! Musical guests Steppanian and Sunchunck added a sparkle to the atmosphere. The event had a great turnout, and clubs made terrific profits from their sales! Family Day was a great way to kick off a new semester!
